Port Strike Announced as Blow at Sentences Imposed on Members.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Port Arthur, Tex.—The climax of an impending general marine strike, embracing the entire country, being ordered to take marine workers of the industrial workers of the world out of vessels in every port, comes coincident with calling off of the I. W. W. invasion of Port Arthur.

Dramatic eleventh hour summons from high officials checked the army of more than 20,000 crusaders bound for the city, itself, having little more than 20,000 population. But a few members of the advance guard had arrived. These were in jail.

At 11 Thursday night, General Organizer Sidney Terry here announced a general strike of the marine workers, calling off of the crusade, and simultaneously made the first public announcement of the imminent marine strike.

The marine strike will be a protest, Terry said, against imprisonment. (Continued on Page 3.)

350 Percent Jump in Building Here

Total valuation of building construction in Janesville from April 1 to July 14, has increased more than 350 per cent over the same period last year, according to figures announced Thursday by City Building Inspector George Slightham. Estimated valuation of construction up to the present is $241,000 or $157,730 more than for the same period in 1922.

With 158 permits issued from April 1 to July 14, indications point to the largest construction record for years. Only 122 permits were taken out for the corresponding time last year.

$121,475 Total in May

April, with 62 applications, representing work of approximately $74,000, was the biggest month in number of permits granted, although the May valuation amounted to $121,475. Fifty-one permits were granted in the latter month.

Construction work valued at $34,076 was started during the month of June with 34 licenses granted.

PLAN $200,000 BUILDING NEW JONES THEATER

Henry F. Jones, Janesville, was granted a permit by City Building Inspector George Slightham to erect a fire proof theater on North Franklin street at an estimated cost of $200,000. It was announced Friday. The building will be in accordance with all of the state and city building codes and complete in every respect. It will seat approximately 1,000. Building valuation since April 1, will exceed $440,000 by virtue of the permit.

Only 11 permits have been let for the first two weeks in July with a valuation of $11,545.

The biggest month in the building period was May, when 40 permits were granted and work amounting to $34,100 started. Thirty-seven permits were granted in April with a valuation of $24,465. In May, 24 permits were given but only $8,700 worth begun. Fifteen permits were granted during the two week period in July with a valuation of $6,100.

The big increase in the 1923 record is due to the granting of a permit to Saxe Brothers, Milwaukee, for the erection of a $75,000 theater on West Milwaukee street. The Chevrolet Motor Co. is also building an open shed of steel and cement on Industrial avenue valued at $12,000. The Jones theater permit, not yet filed, will further increase the figures.

Construction of homes in the 14 week period also took a big increase, according to the figures, with permits for 34 dwellings at an estimated cost of $114,500, issued. Only 13 houses were erected during the corresponding time last year at a cost of $16,200.

Superior.—The proposed organization of an independent farmer-labor party in Wisconsin at the present time, failed to get favorable reaction from the state federation of labor at its convention here Thursday afternoon with the result that all resolutions favoring separate political action were defeated.

Instead, the delegates sided with the federal executive board recommending that labor maintain its heretofore declared position and that Wisconsin unions be urged to continue their conferences with farmers groups until such time as it may be desirable to work through an individual membership party for independent political action.

Supporters of the independent party, under its present organization, the federation supports both the LaFol-

TANK BOYS HURT WHILE AT CAMP

Corp. Schaber of the Janesville Tank Corps had a finger broken Thursday morning and Pvt. Lyman Powers fractured an elbow Wednesday at Camp Douglas, according to news given by A. E. Bergman, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., upon his return from camp Friday morning.

Schaber's finger was fractured when an armored steel plate door fell down upon him. Powers' injury came while cranking an army truck.

The tanks were busy Friday morning getting in shape for tank maneuvers, said Mr. Bergman. Each member of the company has learned to drive.

Field day has been postponed to the morning of July 27 so that Governor Blaine may be present.

Word comes from camp that as a bridge paper, Lieut. "Red" Ponnas is a good paper hanger, being given a few lessons by Capt. Markus of the regular army.

Lieut. Thiele would rather play hide and seek among the tanks; but hates hot hand and run-the-gauntlet.

Mr. Bergman served as assistant camp athletic instructor during his 15 days visit. He was to leave with his family Friday afternoon on a short trip to Boulder Lake and to visit his mother at Ellington Bay.

JURY INDICTS DRY LEAGUE LEADER

New York Man Charged with Larceny and Forgery; Inquiry Urged.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

New York.—A grand jury Friday indicted William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New York, on charges of grand larceny and forgery and then handed down a presentment calling for a legislative investigation of the league's activities since 1913, when Anderson became superintendent.

The grand jury charges, on which two separate indictments were returned, were that Anderson obtained from the league $4,500 in March, 1921, and $1,750 in February, 1921. The forgery indictment charged him with ordering falsification of the league's books to conceal receipt of $4,400 as split on commensals due O. Berthal Phillips, former solicitor for the league.

Anderson entered a plea of not guilty and was held in $5000 bail to cover all the indictments. His accused split ball would be furnished at once.

MAGAZINE IS KLAN TARGET

Everyone is interested in the Transportation problem. Macauley said that Transportation and printing were the two greatest civilizers of the world.

There are so many sides to the railroad question that it is hard to get at the truth. Demagoguery and greed have been the chief elements in the presentation to the public.

The Gazette has purchased from Senator Albert Cummins, United States senator from Iowa and chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the senate, a series of articles or transportation, the first of which will be printed in the Gazette in the Saturday and Sunday edition July 27-28.

Others will follow either during the week or in the Saturday and Sunday editions.

Here is an opportunity to get additional information in a clear and concise manner written not from the standpoint of either the friends or enemies of the railroad but from and for those most concerned—the people.

London.—Additional alterations were made Friday in the draft of Germany's reparations memorandum to the British cabinet. Unless it should seem expedient to make some 11th hour changes, the document probably will be dispatched to the allied and American governments Friday night.

It is understood, the suggested reply contains about 1,400 words and is up to the standard of cogency and forcefulness usually characteristic of Lord Curzon's foreign affairs secretary. There is still some doubt as to whether the much discussed supplementary memorandum of an explanatory nature will be sent with the draft. The second document may be confined merely to the form of a covering letter, this point to be settled by the cabinet.

Commission Suggested. Among the multiplicity of the forecasts offered by the political analysts it seems safe to accept the prediction that the note will deal with the appointment of an international commission of experts to appraise Germany's assets and that it will suggest to Germany that Great Britain is prepared to ask France to reduce the occupational forces to a minimum so Germany's industrial and mining plants in that region shall be free to contribute to the payment of reparations. In return for this, Germany will be expected to countermand all ordinances for passive resistance.

No Debt Cancellation. It is also considered certain that Great Britain will not offer to cancel the French, Italian and Belgian debts, as suggested by some reports. This proposition never has been discussed with the allies and even if it had been, it is considered entirely irrelevant to the reply to Germany's reparations note.

The present documents have for their purposes, the ultimate submission of a reparations problem to an international conference of plenipotentiaries to be held in the near future in Brussels, or some other equally acceptable city, according to the best informed authorities.

Scarcity Now Here in Houses

With the boom in Janesville's industries, the housing situation has grown more serious during the last few months, according to local real estate operators. Although a few small houses may be obtained, real estate men say, it is an exceedingly hard task to rent a modern house.

One operator said Friday it is almost impossible, at the present time, to rent a desirable house in the city, but due to the departure of a number of Janesville people to lakes and resorts for the summer, flats may be obtained temporarily. The situation regarding apartment houses is almost equally bleak.

Although there is a scarcity of houses for rent, some desirable dwellings are listed for sale. Building of new houses during the summer months is expected to be a congestion. Permits for 34 dwellings have been taken out since April 1 compared with 13 for the same period in 1922.

Farm Bureau Official Information

600 ENJOY TOUR OF FARM BUREAU

Livestock and Field Demonstrations Feature Trip in Rock County.

Agricultural Rock county was in all its glory Thursday for the Farm Bureau tour.

There may be more spectacular scenes, but the sight of the rolling fields of Rock County, the bright green of the bumper corn crop, the golden harvest fields and well equipped farms, proved a delight to the 600 people on the tour to the south-eastern section of the county, Thursday.

The trip was a combination of livestock and field demonstrations and every person on the tour returned with just a little more of the "Rock County" spirit. The trip brought out the truth of the fact—that farming is just what the individual makes of it.

See Successful Farms

The examples of successful farming shown Thursday were more than a mere display of vigorous work and a business system in agricultural development.

The climax of the trip was reached at the farm of W. J. Dougan, Beloit, Wis. The story of the success of Mr. and Mrs. Dougan is generally known, if the building up of an outstanding herd and farm from a limited start, can be called success.

A trip into the Dougan barn was an inspiration. Every part of the barn and the bottling plant was spotlessly clean; every animal a credit to the Guernsey breed. But more than that, there were the pastured to show exactly the business methods employed on this farm. The financial statement was there, the records of not only the cows but every herd sire. Dougan knows whether or not his animals return a profit. The same business principle is applied to the fields, to the crops and to the household savings plan.

On Business Basis

It is one of the few farms that is run on a strictly business principle. Two of the prize blooded Guernseys selected for the Rock county show herd were a part of the exhibit of cattle. It is a significant fact that the high grade cattle on this farm have been developed in both type and production to as high a degree as the registered stock for figures of the dairy cattle supply show that the bulk of the milk, cheese and butter must for many years come from grade cattle.

Starting from the court house, the convey of cars went to the fair grounds to inspect the dairy stock concentrated there for the county fair. J. C. Nisbet led in this demonstration and to show farmers how to throw animals to trim feet, a bull weighing around a ton, was led out with the three simple half hitchers around the body. An easy pull caused the bull to settle to the ground in a helpless condition.

The next farm visited was "Craig Farm," owned by J. A. Craig, Janesville. Here B. C. Stone, secretary of the National Hampshire association, spoke.

"I consider the effort that Rock county is undertaking through the Farm Bureau is the greatest program attempted in any county," declared Secretary Stone. "We hear many good things about Rock county, but your show herds will overshadow any other program of work."

The tractors used on the Craig farm, completely motorized, were shown, including a new general purpose tractor that shows decided improvement over previous models. Rival claims, clashed regarding the contention of the future of farm power. From the Craig farm, where tractors are used in the tour party went to the McWay farm, "Arnhilbon," where John McWay led out a number of the beautiful Clydesdale horses. There was divided opinion whether horses, such as these, or tractors would win in the race for favor.

See Blooded "Clydes"

At the heavy, there was no comparison for the "Clydes" of great blood and show ring type.

Prof. J. F. Fuller, Madison, spoke at this demonstration pointing out the history of the McWay herds and their successes in the show ring. Two herd bulls were shown, the young beef Shorthorn bull from the McWay farm, a well developed youngster that will be shown in the county herd this year. The other bull was a three year old Milking Shorthorn owned by Payne and Brown, Kinrossa Duick the 4th, third prize winner at the 1922 International. Their points were discussed by Robert Traynor, Koshkonong, and Prof. Fuller.

Show Testing Value

The next farm was the farm of R. W. Lamb and Son where there was a milking Shorthorn demonstration. The records of the milk herd was explained by Robert Lamb and convinced of the value of cow testing work in proving the production abilities of these dual-purpose animals.

Three of the best milking Shorthorn bulls in the state were seen on these farms, Walgrove Enterprise, fourth prize winner at the International, Flintstone Chieftain, a candidate for high honors this year and Telluria's Fame, owned by James Hadden and Son, an undefeated champion for his age. Two gold medals of the "four percent or better" variety was distributed to the visitors.

Talks on Potatoes

There was a short stop at the farm of George Mawhinney, where Lyle Mawhinney, a high school student, spoke on the value of certified seed potatoes. Then to Carver's Rocks for the noon hour lunch, served by the women of the district and at the program there were around 1,000 people present.

A trip was made to the farm of John Cooper and Son, Clinton, where a herd of registered Swiss cattle, has been developed. George Full, Whitewater, spoke on the dairy qualities of these cattle and their progress.

At the Hiram Johnson farm an orchard that has been sprayed was inspected.

Show Duroc Bluebloods

At the Walsh Brothers farm, state line road, Beloit, there was an alfalfa demonstration and three girls drove out as fine a bunch of Duroc Jersey sows as there is in the state. The spring fertility-litter sired by High Pathmaster was shown to the visitors.

BEEKEEPERS HOLD PICNIC ON 22nd.

The picnic of the Rock county beekeepers will be held at Riverside park, Janesville, on Sunday starting at 9:30 a. m. The committee in charge of the picnic is composed of Walter A. Ross, A. N. Hiorth, S. J. Riesters and A. J. Muller.

Among those on the program are James Quinn, G. B. Lewis, H. Hawkins and W. Atkinson bee or bee product experts. Miss W. D. Fisher, state secretary of the Wisconsin association, will attend. There will be an athletic program of games.

"All beekeepers whether association members or not are invited to attend," states President Walter Ross.

SEPARATE PARTY PROPOSAL KILLED BY BADGER LABOR

Continued from Page 1. The movement among the Republicans and the socialists in Milwaukee. Strict prohibition was attacked by the state's prohibition executive board to use its efforts to bring about the return of light wines and beer. We do not believe the prohibition question will ever be solved until the people shall be permitted the use of wholesome beer and wine, the resolution read.

The "one big union" as announced a setback in the convention. A resolution proposing general amalgamation of trade unions into industrial unions was killed and the executive board report adopted asking restricted consolidation of the craft organizations.

A sharp floor battle resulted from consideration of a resolution to change the directing organization of the federation in order to take control from Milwaukee.

A rollcalling plan, proposing election of members of the executive board from each district in the state proposed by Superior unions was defeated 57 to 65.

Justice Charles Croswell of the Wisconsin supreme court addressed the delegates Thursday afternoon, defending the honesty of the justices on the state's high court. He told the delegates that although members of the court might reflect a different viewpoint from that of labor, they were men of ability, integrity and honest in their views.

Elections, action on resolutions and choice of a meeting place for next year were on the program for Friday.

JONES IS BOOSTER FOR "CO-OP" PLAN

New Commissioner of Agriculture Speaks During Bureau Tour.

Those on the Rock county Farm Bureau tour Thursday had the opportunity of hearing John Jones Jr., Madison, Wisconsin's new commissioner of agriculture, in one of his first public addresses since taking office. His address made a decided hit for the farmers for he "rang true" with evident sincere representation of his job, the needs of agriculture and the spirit of Wisconsin progress.

His plan was founded on the fundamental idea of not growing more but to grow better and the necessity of united effort on the part of the farmer.

"It is a well known fact that we farmers are running as good a business as we know how to make," stated Commissioner Jones. "Present returns on agricultural products, shortage of labor is the reason why the farmer must be able to produce more to produce more. A 'hard road' to market."

"I am convinced that it is my duty to listen as much as possible to the farmer's voice and to make the movement for cooperative marketing. This co-operative marketing must be along rural lines and must be done so that the producer receives more of the consumer dollar or we will have a class of peasants running our farms. Farmers are not ready for cooperative marketing unless they will stand by this system in rain and in stormy times."

Change in farming

"There has been a great change in farm revenue. There was a time when land was cheap and the settler, by dint of hard work on one part of all the family reaped a good profit through the increased value of the land which he was ready to re-sell."

"Land has reached its full value and this condition will not be true in the future. The farmer must obtain his revenue and what profit from that which is produced on the land and not the land itself. This means more efficient production and better markets."

Commissioner Jones pointed out the cardinal features of cooperative marketing in having faith in the system, a correct plan, the necessity of trained men to direct the efforts and a careful study of market conditions.

In speaking to the farmers on the "F. S. Legislation Commissioner Jones expressed regret at the failure of the legislature to pass the $1,000,000 Seneca bill because of the dead-lock on the sur-tax issue.

"I felt that it was far better to take what we could get for tuberculosis eradication work than to go without and stop the testing program altogether," it was said.

There is going to be a constructive program and down to earth, this fund go as far as possible to hold Wisconsin's reputation as the greatest source of clean cattle."

W. G. Patterson, Evansville, president of the Rock county Farm Bureau presided during the meeting at Carver's Rocks.

"The Farm Bureau is attempting to back every worth-while farm product in Rock county and will in the future to the degree in which the organization is supported," it was declared.

Push Cattle Sales

"Livestock production hinges mainly on a policy of producing that which the market wants and is willing to pay for an increased amount over the ordinary stock," brought out P. C. Stone, secretary of the Hampshire association.

Others on the trip who participated in the program were L. F. Graber, Madison, extension worker, Arthur Collette, Madison, who aided cattle buyers, and many farm press representatives.

"Rock county is all set for selling livestock," expressed Mr. Collette.

"Your show herds, cow testing association work and effort to clean up the T. B. evil is certain to bring business. Every farmer should seek to produce livestock worthy of sale as breeding animals for there is going to be a good market for this class of stock. We are looking for high grade Guernseys at good prices and the many carloads could be sold. This holds true to a more limited degree of other breeds and the farmer having good grades is in a position to realize profits from his herd in the sale of surplus stock."

ELECTRIC SERVICE TO BE STABILIZED

Janesville Company to Benefit by Tie-in With Milwaukee Plant.

Stabilization of the Janesville Electric company service will be aided through a contract closed recently whereby a "tie-up" with the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company will be made at Plymouth, beginning in October. William R. Schmidley, manager of the Janesville Electric company, made this announcement on his return Friday from Sheboygan, where he attended the bi-monthly meeting of Northwest Utilities division chiefs. Power from the 122,000 volt line of the Milwaukee company, the heaviest in the state, will be used to assure sufficient current to carry the peak load. The companies furnish power to 122 towns in the state, with 44,000 customers.

John Quinn accompanied Mr. Schmidley by automobile and Hugo Strick, Edgerton, attended. Dinner at Elkhart Lake concluded the meeting. The next session will be at Oshkosh.

Topska—Reports to the state board of agriculture indicate that the farmers intend to increase their wheat acreage this fall because of unfavorable prices according to the monthly crop review.

THE HEAVENS IN JULY

By DR. C. S. BRAININ
Of the Columbia University Observatory

The two great planets—Jupiter, the largest of the entire solar family, and Saturn, the ringed planet—are still even stars and in an excellent position for observation throughout this month. The two planets have changed their positions with respect to the stars, but very little in the last six months, although a careful observer would have been able to note the apparent movement of each by studying their positions from the neighboring fixed stars.

This is really a very interesting simple series of observations for the amateur, and one which will lead to a better understanding of the mechanics of the planetary system. We can highly recommend to the reader to make periodic maps, say, every two weeks, of the region surrounding Jupiter, Saturn and Spica.

Jupiter will be found to make more rapid progress through the field stars than Saturn. The reason for this is simply that the latter is further away from the sun. Saturn is about 886,000,000 miles from the sun, while Jupiter is only 483,000,000 miles from the sun. The difference in distance is about 400,000,000 miles. It takes Saturn, therefore, much longer to make a complete round of its orbit, about twenty-nine and a half years, to Jupiter's eleven and nine-tenths.

This is carried further yet by the case of the two more distant planets—Uranus and Neptune. The former, at a distance of about 1,820,000,000 miles, takes eighty-four years to complete its period, and the latter still more, about 165 years, for its distance from the sun is about 2,730,000,000 miles. Uranus is moving at the rate of about four degrees and Neptune about two degrees a year through the field of stars. In fact, it has not yet been observed to make a complete round, for it was only discovered in 1846.

The Red Antares
Look down toward the southern horizon, and you will find there a bright star of the first magnitude whose reddish color is unmistakable. It is Antares in the constellation of Scorpio, a tremendous red star, as in spite of its diminutive appearance compared with the sun, it is several hundred times as powerful a radiator of energy as the former. If our sun were suddenly to grow to the proportions of Antares, the earth with everything on it would be destroyed in a twinkling.

From its color, its position, which is inseparably connected with the spectrum—astronomers know that its surface temperature is much hotter than that of the sun and of other bright stars. Vega, for example, is a yellow star, and its temperature is about 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Antares, on the other hand, is a red star, and its temperature is about 3,500 degrees Fahrenheit. This difference in temperature is due to the fact that Antares is a much larger star than Vega, and it radiates its energy over a much larger surface.

Heating Plant at Poor Farm, Topic of Committee

Erection of a new heating plant at the poor farm or farm and asylum was considered by the building committee of the county board at the court house Thursday. Estimates for the new plant, which would cost about $10,000, were presented by the committee. The committee is now considering the matter, and will report back to the board at its next meeting.

"AG" TEACHERS TO BE ENTERTAINED AT A BANQUET

Wisconsin Smith-Hughes teachers meeting in Rock county will be entertained at a banquet to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening. The banquet will be given by the local Y. M. C. A. and will be a very enjoyable affair.

On Thursday the teachers took part in the Rock County Farm Bureau tour. The program for Friday included a study of the draft horses in Rock county. The stock on the farms of J. M. Huginin and Son, breeders of fine French horses and the McVay farm, Chesham, were inspected. The project of Roy Huginin was inspected during the morning.

PASSES WISCONSIN DENTISTRY TESTS

Dr. Clarence Selgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Selgren, 516 South Franklin street, has received word that he has passed the examinations given by the state board for those wishing to practice dentistry in Wisconsin.

Dr. Selgren completed his course at the Chicago dental Marquette university, Milwaukee, June 2, and was graduated June 18. For many years previous to his taking up the study of dentistry, Dr. Selgren was employed at the People's Drug store.

He has recently opened offices in the Hayes block, where Dr. Paul Segerson was formerly located. Dr. Segerson is now practicing in Madison, his home town.

Be sure you are wrong before you offer an apology.

New Home Tax to Cause County Loss, Says Taylor

Unable to determine the amount that will be lost in taxes in Rock county through the $500 allowed all home owners in Wisconsin, F. F. Taylor, assessor, says he has not heard from the state tax commission on its administration. "I presume the law was not passed to help those in Rock county, but those home owners who are fighting to make ends meet," Mr. Taylor said. "I would not venture to guess the amount which will be lost in taxes in Rock county through passage of the bill."

Rural Rock County Assessments Made

With the exception of the four cities, assessment work in Rock county has been completed. F. F. Taylor, assessor, says he expects to complete his work by Aug. 1.

CROWDS LEAVE PARK STREWN WITH PAPER

A concert was given in the upper end of court house park Thursday night by the Bower City band. Friday morning the caretakers of the park spent several hours picking up the waste paper.

There are no refuse cans in the upper part of the park but there are in the lower end. If it would make any difference it some were placed there, William Fathers, who has been caring for the park for 23 years, said. "I don't know if it would make any difference or not, but I would like to see some placed there."

"After the Fourth of July we spent several hours picking up waste paper left by picnic parties and others who had enjoyed the park," said Mr. Fathers. "A picnic party came here and there will be a refuse box a few feet away, but they will leave their debris on the ground. Not only that, but they leave their popcorn boxes and tin pieces and leave them on the ground."

Mr. Fathers said traveling salesmen, who come to the park and wander over to the park and several have told him that they have seen none more beautiful.

Vice Reduced to Minimum Here, Is Police Statement

That vice conditions in Janesville have been reduced to the minimum is the statement made Friday by Chief of Police Charles Newman.

Raids on suspected moonshine resorts have so reduced the number of violations by recent raids conducted by the police force, that conditions are now considered better than ever before in the history of the city, he said.

"I believe," said Chief Newman, "that conditions in Janesville are better than in most cities in Wisconsin. We have conducted numerous raids, so that moonshiners are realizing that Janesville is not a profitable place in which to operate. The police department intends to keep the city in the front ranks as a law abiding community."

WILL BREAD GO LOWER IN PRICE?

Wheat Drop May Start Food Down the Grade a Little.

What is going to happen to flour and bread and other things made out of wheat now that the price is down and flour is selling lower than in the last five years?

That is the question interesting every housewife and all other persons who buy bread or flour.

One Janesville grocer reports that prices now being paid for flour by grocers are 48 to 50 cents and that there has been a 20 cent drop per barrel in the last month. $6 is for the cheaper grades in large quantities; 48 is for the best grades in small lots. This one expects no further drop for three weeks or so, until the new flour crop comes in.

Another grocer says that their retail price is already a shilling per sack lower since the drop started. Retail price drop was 50 cents per barrel. No further drop is looked for, soon because of yesterday's advances in wheat prices.

No Change in Bread.
A baker who sells flour says that the prices he pays follow exactly the market. There is a four cent advance on wheat, as yesterday, there will be a 20 cent advance in flour by the barrel. The advance of yesterday he could not account for, other than that it was a result of newspaper agitation for everybody to buy more flour. If such further drops may be expected, because of the great quantity of wheat, and the large amount left over from last year.

BACK IN PAYMENTS WANT FORECLOSURE
Because of failure to continue making payments on a $2,900 home, William F. Redlake and Herman T. Redlake, Milwaukee, have started suit in Rock county circuit court for foreclosure on a land contract. The property is in Beloit and was bought April 16, 1913 by Mr. and Mrs. William F. Redlake under an agreement to pay $30 a month. The action is against Frances L. Tousey, widow of William, Ruth M. Tousey Knapp and Milton S. Knapp. There is now due $2,989.71.

Question Sanity Gannon's Brother

Emmett Gannon, Madison, former ball player and brother of Russell Gannon, recently convicted of larceny by Judge Maxfield in Municipal court, was ordered to be examined by a sanity board, by Judge O. A. Stolen in Superior court, Madison, Thursday.

Gannon was charged with drunkenness but pleaded not guilty. He was proven not guilty of theft in Madison last spring.

Gannon's brother, Russell, an 15 year old youth, was found guilty of the theft of a tire from Harry Ryan, Janesville, two months ago, and fined $200 by Judge Maxfield in Municipal court. He is now facing another larceny charge, the theft of clothing from locker rooms during a basketball game in Milton college gymnasium last December. The case has been held open.

BRITAIN PLANNING CHECK ON JAPAN

Will Strengthen Naval Base at Singapore Against Possible War.

(By Associated Press)
London.—Renewed frank discussion of the possibility of war with Japan in the future came to an end in the House of Commons last night with the passage, under closure, by a vote of 217 to 130, of the naval estimates providing for strengthening the naval base at Singapore.

Most of the opposition came from liberal and labor members who argued that the project was not in spirit with the Washington conference and that its completion would impel resumption of competition in naval armament and sow the seeds of war. Some opponents conceded nevertheless that the spread of Japanese immigration might be a source of difficulty between Great Britain and Japan, a generation hence.

These assertions were countered by Lieut. Col. L. S. Amery, the first lord of the admiralty, who contended that all the delegates at Washington understood that Great Britain reserved the right to strengthen the Singapore base and that meridian 110 was specified in the treaty limiting the area of fleet collection to 10 degrees Singapore from the terms of the agreement.

Brodhead Women to Make Survey on "YW" Outlook

(By Staff Correspondent.)
Brodhead—Brodhead is the fifth community in which women leaders have agreed to make a survey proposed by the Y. W. C. A. to ascertain the needs of women and girls.

At a conference held in the library here Thursday night, Mrs. B. J. Atchison, president of the federation of clubs, was named as survey chairman. Miss Grace Marsh, who was interested in "Y. W." work during the war while teaching at Highland Park, Ill., will act as conference chairman. She will endeavor to organize a delegation to attend the Lake Geneva conference if a district meeting is arranged, at that time.

Definite action on formation of a Y. W. C. A. in Brodhead and this community's part in the district organization will await the completion of the survey and the presentation of the plans at a community mass meeting in the fall.

Maud Duggan, a woman of the name of a number of acquaintances and finds that the oldest son is an electrician and is lighting the house with electricity and adding other modern improvements. It is a mystery as to how the detective is attempting to have Ross disinherited and her own son, Cyril, made the heir. As a family gathering the older Duggan is slain while seated in his chair in a moment when the lights go out and the detective, Cleek, (Deiland) about it.

"Then I take it," he said, "that the estate is the property of Lady Paula, but that it was last used by Mr. Duggan, who returned it to Lady Paula in the presence of a witness and she put it back into her drawer. That is correct, is it not?"
"A lie—an absolute lie!"
"Perfectly correct, Mr. Deiland." "Thank you, Mr. Duggan. At any rate, the ownership of the thing is established by a witness who is here. Lady Paula makes no assertion whatever as to incriminating you in this disastrous affair. Miss Debenham, would you mind coming over here for a moment? I would like to look at your dress."
"My dress, Mr. Deiland?"
He smiled at her with disarming frankness.
"Wonder you think I am mad, but—ah, yes, see, right here on this panel—I thought I was not mistaken if you wouldn't mind turning round a little more toward the middle of the room. Miss Debenham—thank you—right here; those dark stains. It went down on his knees suddenly and sniffed them, rubbed them with his fingers, and then beckoned the mystified Mr. Narkom, who joined him immediately. "You see, Mr. Narkom, what it is? Rather peculiar, isn't it?"
"What the devil are you driving at?" demanded Ross at this juncture, standing around the desk and taking up a stand beside his finger as though to shield her from the hands of these merciless probes of human hearts. "I wish to God you and your kind had never showed up here at all. I do, indeed. You always bring trouble in your wake."
"Follow trouble, I think you mean, my friend," supplemented Cleek quickly. "The trouble is already there first. It is our business to see that it is thrust upon—the right shoulders."
"Then Cynthia—what are you driving at now?"
"There was a moment's tense silence. Then Cleek's voice sounded clearly:
"Simply this. Those three stains there—long, narrow ones—upon Miss Debenham's gown (I noticed them this morning at breakfast)—are—bloodstains. Mr. Duggan—bloodstains!"

WOMEN OF THREE GENERATIONS
The daughter, mother, and grandmother have all proved from personal experience the remarkable strength and life-giving properties of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in overcoming the ills of women. It was first made from roots and herbs in 1875 by Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for her neighbors and friends. Its fame has spread from shore to shore until it is now looked upon by women everywhere as the standard remedy for women's ills. It has been proved that it benefits 92 out of every 100 women who try it, which is a marvelous record for any remedy to hold.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 17 years old and would like to go with me. Sometimes I feel as if I were only a young girl, but I am not. I am too young and they forbid it. All of my friends have girls that they take to movies and to play tennis and it seems to me I ought to be allowed to do the same. I don't think I am old enough to go with a girl once in a while.

Many boys of your age feel no interest in girls, or perhaps they feel shy and therefore avoid girls. It seems to me that there would be no harm in your taking a girl to play tennis. If your parents object to your going out evenings, that is a different matter, but for a daytime sport, it seems to me there would be no harm in your going with a girl.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18 and heart-broken. When I come here I was young and I had never gone with anyone. I started right in going with a boy of whom I thought very much. I knew nothing of the way I should act and he had gone with many. Of course he did not like the way I acted and we quarreled. I really didn't care at the time, but now I have found out that I do love him and that he does not love me.

After we quit I did not go with any one for about a month, and then a boy who had wanted to go with me asked me to go with him and I did. I thought quite a bit of him at first. Then the boy I like so well asked me to go home with him. I had come with the one I care nothing for except as a friend. Of course I refused after explaining why. He acted hurt and also the boy I went with.

My girl friend has talked to my girl friend many times, but never has been true. He says he will be all right if I will tell him my girl friend nurse because of the soreness and if it is as bad as that, I will tell him from now on being careful enough in the cleaning of the baby's bottle or nipples or perhaps the breast. The baby's mouth should be washed out several times a day with a weak solution of boric acid. The nipples of the mother should be washed before and after each nursing period and kept covered with a clean piece of gauze so that the clothes will not get soiled. The bottle nipples should be washed and boiled and kept in boric solution when they are not in use.

The foreskin is hard to retract, but the boy may need circumcision, and no effort should be made to retract it forcibly. Let the doctor attend to such matters and advise what should be done.

The nose may be cleaned by wrapping a bit of cotton about a toothpick. The mouth should be left alone unless there is a sore. This looks like a sore of milk inside the baby's mouth, but when brushed off show blood underneath. When thrush is present the baby may often refuse to eat.

There are a great many people who make a mistake in thinking that one of them has made a small fortune, training other women how to stand, sit, walk and court. The courtship is not only taught, but the women are to be present at some foreign court, where the graceful, elaborate courtesy of the old days is still a part of the ceremony. I think the courtesy of the old days is a hard lesson to learn when she is older.

Pay money to learn how to court. It does not surprise me, for these modern days the courtesy does not enter into everyday life. But paying money to learn how to stand or walk always amazes me; every woman's duty to herself is to get through the every day motions of life gracefully. She should learn now to stand well and how to sit properly, and how to walk gracefully when she is a child, and should grow up instinctively graceful. It is a hard lesson to learn when she is older.

If you haven't learned it begin your reform now. First of all watch your part costume. The things that you wear where your faults are practice standing straight by standing straight.

Dinner Stories

It was a fair sized town in the hinterland of Pennsylvania, nestled between the mountains and the river. An ancient farm wagon drove up to the leading farmer's and a woman alighted, bearing one of the last extant specimens of a certain species. She switched to the usual questions—name, address, valuation.

She learned that she was Tillie Weyers, R. F. D. Route 4; the last question seemed to puzzle her, but only for a moment. Then with a shy smile, she murmured, "Pennsylvania Dutch."

He kissed her. They were on the porch, just outside a path of white moonlight, says Cougan's Paw (Wash. State). It was their first evening together, and as he did not want her to think that he was in the habit of kissing girls, he said, "You and—Oh, shucks!"

"Perhaps I did work a little too fast," was her confession.

Some of those American soldiers who stopped off in England for a time were so exuberant in spirits that they refused to have them dampened even by the well-known and much advertised foggy weather, says the American Legion Weekly.

The colonel of a regiment, making a right tour of a certain camp, was challenged by a sentry who had been standing for hours in a driving rain.

"Who goes there?" demanded the sentry.

"Welcome to our list," said the sentry.

A lady was entertaining her daughter's caller (who was just back from a summer outing. The conversation had been somewhat spasmodic and finally she decided to try him on some of the new books.

"Have you read 'Freckles,' Mr. Johnson?" she ventured.

"No, ma'am," he stammered.

FRUITS PLENTIFUL IN LOCAL MARKETS

Berries, Peaches, Pears and Watermelon in Quantity—Green Corn Arrives.

Summer is pouring out all her fruits at once. This week sees so many beautiful fruits in the market that one would have to eat nothing else to have enough. Following is the list with the prices asked by Janesville retailers:

Seedless grapes from California, just the season, 25 and 30 cents per pound; red raspberries, good at 18 and 20 cents per pint; black raspberries, 2 pints for a quarter and up to 17 and 18 cents; delicious blueberries, excellent for the first of the season, 30 and 35 cents per quart; blackberries, 25 and 25 cents per quart; currants, 15 cents per quart; and as many as do the best, peaches, 25 cents per basket, there being different numbers in different-sized baskets; plums, 40 up to 55 and 60 cents per basket for both blue and red; by the dozen, 15 and 18 cents; sour cherries, practically gone, as far as canning is concerned; California cherries, 10 cents per pound; pears, 40 cents per dozen; lemons, still at 45 cents a dozen, in spite of threatened rates; watermelons, same as last week, 40 and 50 cents each; oranges, all the way from 28 to 60 cents per dozen; cantaloupes, 15 and 20 cents a quarter; large size; grapefruit, now rare, but obtainable in some stores for a shilling each; and bananas, the same at 12 and 14 cents per pound, in spite of the national scarcity—"Yes, we have no bananas."

Green corn is about the only new vegetable in market, and it sells for around 30 cents per dozen ears, a moderate price for the first of the season. It is home-grown. Other vegetables finding a good sale now are:

Cucumbers, hot-house at 15 cents each; green paper, 5 cents each, extra large; green onions, 5 cents per bunch; dry onions, 3 pounds for a quarter; string beans, 10 cents per pound, now at the height of their season; leaf lettuce and turnips, all 10 cents per bunch; carrots, 5 cents; plenty of head lettuce at 15 cents each; tomatoes at a quarter a pound, no home-grown yet; big bunch of celery, 15 cents; cabbage 5 cents a pound; and new potatoes, 55 cents a peck.

Butter and egg prices remain practically stationary—the former at 30-41 cents per pound, eggs, 24 cents a dozen.

100 Fly Kites

in Local Meet

Second annual kite tournament, held at the fair grounds Friday morning, was even a greater success than the first one last year, with 100 entries from the five playgrounds. There were kites of all colors and shapes, and getting them into the air proved great sport for all who had them. A good breeze aided in keeping the kites up, and one got so high that it was only a speck. All sailed with good success, there being one or two that refused to go up, or got tangled in telephone wires.

For each kite flown, a number of points will go to the credit of the playground from which the flyer comes. For each kite made, 5 points are added to the record of the playground represented. For girls, these points are doubled, and there were many girls. These points will be added to the record for playground championship, won last year by the Jefferson school.

Playground directors were at the grounds Friday morning, and several older people delighted in this sport that in their youth was one of the main amusements. The tournament was in charge of V. E. Kiontz, playground director.

Allied Unity in Ruhr to Compel Payments, Belief

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Cable Dispatch to the Gazette.
Copyright 1923.

Paris—France and England will come to an agreement on reparations and war debts chiefly because they must agree. Disagreement would be too expensive for both, too dangerous, not only to France and England but to all of Europe.

This conclusion was imparted to the writer by one of the European premieres who has been consulted by the British and the French governments during the last few days.

It may take weeks and even months for the British and French to reach a compromise, but the writer believes that the compromise will be reached by the end of the year.

The British minister of finance, Mr. Lloyd George, has made the first move to end the dispute. He has proposed that the allies should play with each other and with Germany during the last four years. In all likelihood the agreement will come next fall, probably because it would be too dangerous to let matters drift beyond that time.

The writer has talked with several French statesmen and the consensus of opinion is that things are not so hopeless as they may seem on the surface.

The French are not happy about the Ruhr. They know it has not been productive of reparations and it is a small consolation to hear defenders of the Ruhr policy say it has produced more than Germany would voluntarily have paid in the same period. All would have been well could France have gone into the Ruhr and collected reparations in materials without any cost to Germany. But the overhead is eating up the French. As Andre Tardieu, the famous French statesman, who is looked upon as a coming premier, said the other day: "We are not occupying the Ruhr. We are being occupied by the Ruhr."

Cost is enormous.

It costs money to keep troops and engineers in the Ruhr and the French people here are not yet looking the bill squarely in the face. What they will say when they look retrospectively at the whole venture at the November meeting of parliament is now giving politicians much concern.

To tell the truth, even if Premier Poincare wanted to order the French troops from the Ruhr he would not dare to do so. He would have to consider the influence of the French people and the French people are not yet ready to let the French people nor proclaim to the world that Germany included that last trump card in the collection of reparations. Namely, that economic coercion has been played without success.

Would not Germany be inclined to do the whole distance then and repudiate her debts and she grows stronger from year to year? As long as the French stay in the Ruhr they feel they have a club over Germany's head.

Where French Failed.

Hindsight, of course, is better than foresight, and there are plenty of statesmen who say that the French made their biggest mistake when they failed to make the Ruhr occupy a political as well as an economic role. The French would have been as powerful to administer law in the Ruhr as they have been in Rhineland. Under such circumstances passive resistance by Germany would have been less effective. And had the British accompanied the French into the Ruhr an exit could now be made more gracefully and as an allied move. With England and France united the Germans might have felt less encouragement to resist.

All this is "it might have been" reasoning, but it illustrates how the French came to miscalculate the risks of the Ruhr problem. They did not count on the effects of British disagreement nor problems of internal administration in the Ruhr. They made a choice between continued isolation, which is getting them nowhere, unless they want to wait indefinitely and run the risk of seeing Germany disintegrated by a revolution, or a return to allied solidarity which will yield more in actual money although it will not fulfill anybody's expectations as to payments anticipated originally or even as late as a year ago. The confusion in the Ruhr has admittedly weakened Germany's capacity to pay for a few years to come and has made it necessary for the French to be content with smaller payments in the immediate future.

A compromise will probably be worked out through a return to the reparations commission with some flexibility of policy to insure increased payments whenever Germany shall appear to be improving sufficiently to pay more from year to year. The question of the Anglo-French reparations is becoming daily less a matter of sentiment and more a matter of dollars and cents. When it is less expensive for the French and the British to agree than it is to disagree, they will make reciprocal concessions and quit jockeying. The bluffing process will go on, however, for a little while longer until matters get worse. Then an agreement will be compelled by the facts. For everybody knows that Europe in a disagreement means financial chaos, and the illusion of anglo-america coming to the rescue now has been dispelled.

New St. P. Yards Wait Upon Greer

Though plans are under way for the construction of a new $75,000 freight yard by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway in the vicinity of the Chevrolet Motors company plant, the personal visit of Vice President E. E. Greer, Chicago, is necessary before work may start. Mr. Greer was expected here several weeks ago but was forced to change his plans. # CROP CONDITIONS ARE SATISFACTORY

Ideal Corn Weather Reported by Statistician; Grain Quality Good.

Madison.—Crop conditions in the four states bordering Lake Michigan have been generally satisfactory the last fortnight, according to a report issued by George C. Bryant, agricultural statistician.

"Favorable conditions have been about normal over the entire area with the exception of a few localities where heavy storms prevailed," the report says.

Corn is making favorable progress with almost ideal weather conditions. Fields generally are clean.

"Wheat cutting is practically completed in Illinois and Indiana and is progressing rapidly northward in Michigan and Wisconsin. Threshing is underway in the southern counties with varying yields. The quality generally is good. Cuts have benefited by favorable weather conditions and show improvement over July 1 report. Although headed on short straw in some sections, the average yield is expected. Cutting has begun in the southern counties. The condition of rye is about the same as wheat. Barley shows considerable improvement in Wisconsin, with fair yields in prospect.

Hay crops are being harvested under difficulties in northern sections on account of rains. All fields are quite weedy and yields light except for alfalfa. Pastures are good.

"Beans, potatoes and other truck crops have made seasonable progress and are now in good condition. Apples are about average over the entire area. Peaches are ripening in south, and Illinois and Indiana. The condition is good in Michigan.

All live stock is in good condition except a few scattered cases of hog cholera. Horses have no more to report. Farmers are pooling their labor and are handling the situation fairly well.

Drive for Blind Having Success, Says Chairman

The first two days of the campaign for funds for the blind, under auspices of the Badger State Advancement Association of the Blind, met with success. Indicative point to a successful conclusion here in Janesville, providing those who can afford to contribute larger sums will do so. This is the statement of Supt. J. T. Hooper, of the state school for the blind here, and chairman of the local campaign.

The drive opened Thursday and closes Saturday. If Janesville does not raise the requested total, the difference will be added to the quota of some other city.

"It is terrible the way the adult blind of this state suffered last winter," says W. T. Ramsey, Beloit, state director of the campaign. "It is hoped we shall be able to raise sufficient funds to complete arrangements in the home and workshop for the winter."

Charles Eices, blind youth, is assisting the drive here. An appeal for 45 cents or more is being made in factories.
